FORGED LETTERS

With McKinley's Name to Them Now Being Prepared.

LAST DITCH OF DESPERATION

Managers Discover a Forgery, Clumsily Executed, Intending to Injure McKinley With Old Soldiers - the Latest Cowardly

The Republican national committee gave out the following statement Tues-

"In the last days of the campaign one may expect almost any kind of a story published regarding the past and future lives of the Republican candidates. The most clumsy, base and contemptible forgery is the following, which purports to be a letter written by Gov. McKinley. This was sent to the national commit-

"DEAR GEN. WELLES: Your letter of importance begging me to use my influence to secure a pension for Sigurney, ol. Silloway, who was a brave officer, as you well say, and for Mrs. Mann, I can only say that I decline to do so, and if bills are introduced I shall do all I can to defeat them, I do not believe in granting bensions to British and Irish inlellings who came here, enlisted, and received large bountles and good pay. In the case of Silloway, though you say he saved President Lincoln from being captured, he received his reward by promotion, and he is well able to earn a living for many years to come. "Yours fraternally," "Yut was planed to sheet of paper with WASHINGTON, April, 1890.

"It was planed to sheet of paper with the following letter unsigned:

"SIR: The above letter is one of many that are in the possession of Col. William H. Silloway of the New York Bulletin, 3423 Third Avenue, that I set up in a down town office to be sent out next week in all Democratic papers of the state and through other states in facsimile lithographs. I send it to you, so you can act accordingly. The old man gets $1,000 for it, and the letters in his possession are such as will turn New York state to Bryan, as well as other states. You can, no doubt, if in time, contract and get Silloway to stop their publication. You see it in cold type and contract and get Silloway to stop their publication. You see it in cold type and can act as you please.

"The committee have declined to purchase it and take the liberty to publish it themselves. Any one who ever knew Gov. McKinley knows that the letter is stamped from the first sentence to its last with falsehood, and up to January, 1894, Gov. McKinley always signed his name. William McKinley, jr., and when his father died in that, month of course he dropped the jr. from his name. The Governor's record as a brave soldier and his record of standing in season and out of season upon all occasions by those and his record of standing in season and out of season upon all occasions by those brave men who gave their services and their lives to their country, has never been questioned or doubted. It is too late to start any stories now."

SILVER KINGS IN POLITICS.

Explanation of Bryan's Earlier Speeches Paid for Every Speech by the Silver

davits from leading citizens of Western states testifying that when William J. states testifying that when William J. Bryan was lecturing on free silver under the auspices of the Bimetalic League, he received $100 per lecture, though the lectures were free to the public. The World summarizes the facts as follows: When the American Binetaillic(silver) League, composed of silver mine owners and others interested in the free coinage of silver, was formed in Chicago last January and later in the month at a second meeting in Washington, a definite programme was laid out for the silver campaign of the present year. The lengue was composed of Republicans and Democrats, but all its members put silver above all else and formed a propaganda to secure a President of the United States.

Members of the league subsidized newspapers, hired halls for public meetings and employed speakers. Mr. Bryan was then editor of theOmaha World-Herald, receiving about $35 a week, and he also had a small law practice from which he realized an uncertain income. He was very glad, therefore, to obtain engagements to speak on free silver at $100 a uight, even when the speech required a journey of a thousand miles and two or three days loss of time.

The Silver League or some individual silver magnate usually paid for the hall, so that no charge of admission was made, the purpose of the mine owners being solely to work up sentiment in favor of free silver.

Thos, G. Merrilli, of Mondana, the author of the famous mine owners circular of the propers circular of the silver and the order of the silver the purpose of the mine owners being solely to work up sentiment in favor of free silver. Bryan was lecturing on free silver under mational league. Senator Stewort, of Nevada, the owner of silver mines in New Mexico and in Nevada, was a member. Senator Butler, the Popullst of North Carolina, was another. Senator Butler, the Popullst of North Carolina, was another. R. C. Chambers, manager of the great Ontario silver mine, of which W. R. Hearst is vice-president, was its vice-president, Gov. Osborne, of Wyoming, was also interested in it.

Mr. Bryan's talent as a public speaker and his natural eloquence early attracted the attention of the silver league, and some of its members contributed liberally to his speaking engagements.

The league, as an organization, never regularly employed him. Mr. Bryan has himself said so publicly, and his personal veracity and probity are not questioned. The league usually worked in secret. Its methods were often mysterious. A paper was usually handed round in a town by the wealthy-mine owners or members of the silver league, inviting a silver orator to visit the city and promising payment for his services. A member of the league rented a hall and the public was invited to come free of charge. In this way the free silver campaign was conducted under the guise of a popular movement. The people who heard the lecture did not know it was paid for, and even the lecturer did not always know from whom came the money which, paid him.

It was customary to appoint a committee of prominent citizons to receive and welcome Mr. Bryan, so that his speech might eem to be altogether popular and non-partisan. But Mr. Bryan was well aware of the Bimedallic League's work, although he may not have known that he was himself one of its beneficiaries. In the introduction to the speech which he delivered at Phoenix, Ariz, last February-five months before his nomination for President—he said that he had come to Arizona under the auspices of the Bimedallic League, in the introduction to the speech which he delivered at Phoenix, Ariz, last February-five months before his nomination for President—he resunderstood him to mean that.

The stock market to-day displayed irregularity on a fairly large aggregate of dealings. The business, as was the case yesterday, was well distributed, with the railroads commanding their full share of interest. The course of the wheat market exerted important influence on the share speculation, and a reactionary tendency in the first mentioned, together with firmness in the exchange market, and a bellef that the Hank of England rate would be advanced to-morrow, caused recessions after the early strength. The initial prices were mainly a fraction above yesterday's closing figures and under heavy buying for both accounts prices rose all round. Toward the close an ineffectual attempt to coyer's short line of Reading caused an advance of 1½ per cent in that stock. The general market, while rather erratic, generally symutatized with the movement. The closing was steady at slight per changes.

The bulls lost their grip on wheat today and there was a decline in prices that wound up with a net loss for the day of 34,6434c. Throughout the entire seasion the market was fairly buried under a landside of long wheat. It poured in from all sidea, but chiefly from foreign houses. This was the straw which broke the bulls back. All recent bull strength has been derived from abroad, and to-day's weakness in cables and European offerings defied all efforts to stay the tide of liquidation.
